Protect Yourself from Online Marketplace & Payment App Scams

It's convenient buying or selling items via Facebook Marketplace and many other platforms, as well as when using Venmo, Cash App, Zelle, and other mobile payments applications. These popular websites are easy-to-use; however, they are also popular targets for scam artists.

Be aware of some very common scams:

Verification Code Scam

Someone sends you a security code and then asks you to provide it to them. What they really want is to gain access to one of your accounts.

Zelle/Venmo/Cash App Fraud

These companies make money because transactions can't be reversed and happen quickly. Scammers want to use this type of payment method because it's faster.

Fake Sellers

You send funds for an item you've purchased online, but the seller never delivers the goods because the listing was created by a scam artist.

Fake Buyers

The buyer says they sent payment (usually via PayPal), but now claim they made an error and will give back most of their funds. When you agree and send them the funds, the initial "payment" was a scam, and any funds you send are coming from your bank account.

Overpayment Scam

The buyer sends you extra money above what you're asking for the item. Then, once you've sent them the overpayment back, they tell you there was a problem with their payment. It turns out their original payment was a scam.
